The 2021 Virginia General Assembly Session convenes Wednesday, Jan. 13, 2021

VIRGINIA'S BRANCHES OF GOVERNMENT

The Constitution of Virginia provides for legislative, executive and judicial departments that “Shall be separate and distinct, so that none exercise the powers belonging to the others, nor that any person exercise the power of more than one of them at the same time ...” It designates the powers and authorities that each department shall have in Articles 3-6 of the Constitution of Virginia.

The Constitution requires that the legislative power of the Commonwealth shall be vested in the Virginia General Assembly consisting of a Senate and House of Delegates. The chief executive power of the Commonwealth shall be vested in a Governor and judicial power shall be vested in a Supreme Court and other subordinate courts as established by the General Assembly.

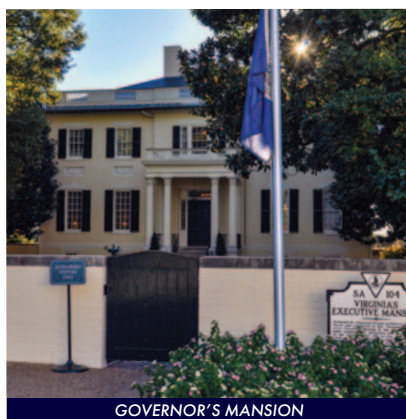

STATE CAPITOL OF VIRGINIA

LEGISLATIVE BRANCH

The Virginia General Assembly is the oldest, continuously meeting legislative body in the Western Hemisphere of the Earth. Our bicameral legislature has met consistently since the House of Burgesses organized in Jamestown in 1619. The Virginia General Assembly meets in the State Capitol Building in Richmond. The building was designed by Thomas Jefferson, and has been the home of the Virginia General Assembly since 1789. The Virginia General Assembly is comprised of the Virginia House of Delegates and the Senate of Virginia, made up of citizen-legislators from across the Commonwealth. Each Delegate and Senator represents approximately 80,000 and 200,000 citizens, respectively.

The House of Delegates has 100 members and is presided over by the Speaker of the House and assisted by The Clerk of the House of Delegates.

The Senate of Virginia has 40 members and is presided over by Lieutenant Governor Justin Fairfax and assisted by the Clerk of the Senate, Susan Clarke Schaar.

GOVERNOR'S MANSION

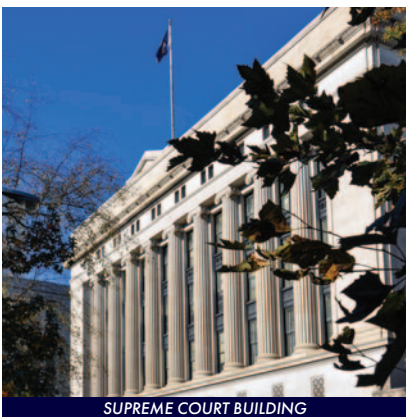

EXECUTIVE BRANCH

Virginia's Executive Branch of government is made up of the popularly and separately elected Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Attorney General. Each position is elected for a 4-year term. Governors may not serve consecutive terms, but may serve multiple terms. Only four men have served more than one term as governor, Patrick Henry, James Monroe, William “Extra Billy” Smith and Mills Godwin. There are no restrictions on the Lieutenant Governor or Attorney General serving consecutive terms.

Governor Ralph Northam is the 73rd Governor of the Commonwealth of Virginia and started his 4-year term in 2018. He presides over a 12-member cabinet.

The Governor is required by the Virginia Constitution to reside on Capitol Square, “at the seat of Government.” The Virginia Executive Mansion is the oldest, still-in-use Executive Mansion in the nation. It was completed in 1813 and underwent extensive renovation in 1999-2000. Northam is the 56th Governor to reside in the Executive Mansion.

Three Virginia Governors have also served as President of the United States, Thomas Jefferson, James Monroe and John Tyler. In recent times, two Virginia Governors have run for President of the United States, Doug Wilder (66th Governor) and Jim Gilmore (68th Governor). In 2016, the 70th Governor of the Commonwealth of Virginia, Tim Kaine, was the Democratic Party's nominee for Vice President of the United States.

SUPREME COURT BUILDING

JUDICIAL BRANCH

Virginia's Judicial Branch traces its roots to The First Virginia Charter of 1606. The Virginia House of Burgesses created an appellate court system in the 1620s, and the Virginia General Assembly reorganized the Court System in 1779, 1788 and 1850. Virginia's Supreme Court Justices were popularly elected from 1850-1870 when the election of judges was transferred to the Virginia General Assembly. In 1928 the number of justices was increased to seven and greater autonomy and powers were granted to the court. In 1971 the name of the court was officially changed from the Supreme Court of Appeals to the Supreme Court of Virginia.

Justices and Judges of Virginia's Courts system must be approved by both Houses of the Virginia General Assembly. Virginia's Court System is comprised in hierarchical order of the Supreme Court of Virginia, the Court of Appeals, Circuit Courts, General District Courts which include Juvenile and Domestic Relations District Courts.

VIRGINIA'S ELECTRIC COOPERATIVES

Electric cooperatives were formed in the mid-1930s to provide electricity to rural America. There are now more than 900 community-owned electric cooperatives in 47 states, including 13 in Virginia. Virginia's Electric Cooperatives serve almost 700,000 homes and businesses, and 1.64 million Virginians in 73 of the Commonwealth's 95 counties. Cooperatives are not-for-profit businesses, and any margins, or over-earnings, are returned to consumer-owners in the form of patronage capital.

Each cooperative is governed locally by a board of directors elected from the membership. Virginia's Electric Cooperatives are regulated by the Virginia State Corporation Commission.

As locally owned and controlled businesses, electric cooperatives are deeply involved in the life of the communities we serve, and we support our communities in a multitude of ways. Each year, Virginia's Electric Cooperatives sponsor several dozen rising high school seniors on an educational trip to Washington, D.C., as well as providing thousands of dollars annually in scholarships to deserving high school graduates looking to continue their education.

Virginia's Electric Cooperatives have published this guide annually since 1989. It is our hope that this resource will encourage Virginians to become more involved in the political process. Thanks to Providence, the Founding Fathers, and millions of courageous men and women since — all willing to stand up to protect our nation — we possess the right to have our voices heard. The freedom to vote and participate in a democracy is one that we should never take for granted.

Along with this guide, Virginia's Electric Cooperatives have also created a "Find your legislator" map at vmdaec.com/legislative-map, where you can locate the state and federal legislators who represent you, along with their contact information. The map will also help you to identify each cooperative's service territory.

Electric cooperatives work hard to provide safe, affordable, environmentally responsible, and reliable electricity. But Mother Nature's wrath can take a toll on even the strongest electric systems. During times when electric service is interrupted, we are committed to restoring power as quickly and safely as possible. To keep cooperative consumers informed during outage situations, we have created a statewide outage map at outages.vmdaec.com that will show outages by county and by cooperative. We hope you find these websites — and this legislative guide — helpful, and we invite your suggestions for improvement.
